Dear Update:

In the latest issue of the Update there was no mention of the Bridge Club meeting. They have been the same time and date as long as I have been a member of Q-Link (Tuesdays at 9:30).

We have two tournaments every month with Plus time prizes awarded. The first is a regular tournament where a schedule is made and teams play in an elimination-type format. The second is a Round Robin tourney where every team plays every other team, with the top three determined by total points accumulated.

Also, every Saturday there is supervised bridge available for any new players online. E-Mail JoanH to join this group.

Edward S37,
Ludington, MI

Dear Update:

The Horror Club in Just For Fun's Fiction & Fantasy Center has PC meetings frequently. For instance, there is a Horror meeting every Saturday night at 11:00 p.m. in PC's HORROR Room, and occasionally, I host Horror meetings in DEEPRED. Can we have our meetings listed in the Update?

OutlanderX,
Norcross, GA

You can find out more about these groups and their activities in the Bridge Club area of Just For Fun's Gaming Connection and the Horror Club area of Fiction & Fantasy, in Just For Fun's Arts & Entertainment area.

If you have information on regularly scheduled club or special interest group meetings, and would like to have your group's events listed in the Update Calendar of Events, contact the group's host/supervisor and suggest they pass the club's calendar along to their Q-Link in-house staff contact. Space in the Update is extremely limited, and listings are at the discretion of Q-Link Department Producers.

Correction:

In the March/April issue of the Update, the letter written about T.H.E. FOX cartoon strip was written by THE FOX tm of Loma Linda, CA, not THE FOX of Pittsburgh, PA.

For those who have been missing out on the humorous antics and escapades of Thad and Bunn, check out best/fox/2a and best/fox/2b, two files uploaded by Joe E3 and available in CIN/Computing Support Groups/Graphics/Software Libraries (C64)/Cartoons & Digital Delights.

We regret the error and any inconvenience caused.

To send a Letter to the Editor, go to the Customer Service Center's Members' Online Guide, enter the Update area, and choose the Post a Letter to the Editor option. Due to the volume of mail received, only letters dealing directly with the content of the Update can be answered.

Q-Link Hometown Bash Planned for This Summer!

Q-Link is throwing a party to end all parties for YOU, our members, in our hometown of Vienna, Virginia. There's nothing more fun than getting together — in person — with Q-Linkers from across the U.S. and Canada, and we expect this to be our biggest party ever!

The daylong festivities planned include a Members' Fair, where you can meet Q-Link staff members and the hosts and SysOps of some of your favorite online areas. There will be presentations, question-and-answer sessions, and prizes. That evening, we'll throw our long-awaited Q-Link Party suggested by our Anniversary Contest winner. Are you ready for — A Q-LINK TALENT SHOW?

Meet the Winner of Our Anniversary Party Contest!

He's TeamstSA — Brett Zucker of Centereach, Long Island, New York, and he's the winner of the Q-Link Anniversary Party Contest that began last November.

We asked Q-Link members to come up with a great idea for a Q-Link party. You were asked to pick an imaginative theme and an exciting location — to dream up any kind of party you wanted. The winner of the contest would see that party become reality, and host the party himself!

Here's Brett's winning entry:

"It's Q-Link Amateur Night, starring you, the Q-Link members! Everyone come down to Vienna, Virginia, and bring your favorite talent.

Tell jokes, sing, play a musical instrument, anything and everything to show off your talent! No need for additional entertainment — our members provide that. Q-Link Amateur Night — it's time for your talent to shine!"

"I know some Q-Linkers who perform, and I thought it would great to have them show off some of their talents," says Brett, who turns 17 this month and has been a Q-Linker for almost three years.

Brett, who's in high school, plays soccer and lacrosse, and you're likely to find him online in CIN's Amiga Alliance or C64 Support Group. You'll get a chance to meet him at the party in Vienna this summer — we're flying Brett down for the party, courtesy of EAAsy Sabre℠, American Airline's online travel service in The Mall. Brett will be helping us host the Talent Show!

Show Off Your Talents at Q-Link Amateur Night!

Do you have a talent you want to share with other Q-Linkers on Amateur Night? If so, you can sign up to strut your stuff at the Talent Show that caps off the festivities for Q-Link's Hometown Bash. Just go to the Talent Show message board, located in the Hometown Bash and Tonight areas in all departments except People Connection, and post a note telling us your plan to perform! We'll alert you later to let you know your time onstage has been reserved. Of course, you don't have to do an act to attend — you can just come watch from the audience. But don't be surprised if you find some club hosts and Q-Link staff up on stage!

All the details for the Q-Link Hometown Bash, information on the Members' Fair, hotel reservations, and Teamst SA's Q-Link Talent Show, are online in the Hometown Bash and Tonight areas. You can also find out how to get up to 45% off your airline fares to the Bash through American Airlines EAASY Sabre Travel Service. You must register online if you plan to attend all or any of the Hometown Bash. Let us know your plans to attend — then start practicing your act!

Meet Linkers in Person at QParties! Have You Been to One Lately?

What is a QParty? It can be ten people gathering at a pizza place, or a large catered affair with dressy clothes. Four or five people meeting at someone's home can turn into a QParty, or 400 Q-Linkers can converge on Philadelphia, as we did last November.

But the real purpose of QParties is to give Q-Link members an opportunity to chat, dance, hug, and reminisce, to spend special time with their online friends and finally meet the people they've been talking to in People Connection for months.

BonnieB3, founder of Bonnie's Bar online, has attended nearly a dozen QParties over the years, in places as different as Northern California, the Midwest, Louisiana, and PhillyFest last November.

"Surprise might be the first emotion you feel when you go to a party," Bonnie says. "It's a little strange to talk to someone online, and on the phone, then finally meet them in person. It's exciting — I still get that special feeling inside."

Isn't it time you took the plunge and met some of your online friends in person? In the next few months, more Q-Linkers than ever will have the opportunity to attend a QParty and experience it first-hand — parties are planned all over the country, including the biggest of them all — the Quantum-sponsored bash in Q-Link's hometown of Vienna, Virginia (see page 30!

Other get-togethers in May and June include:

RabbitJack's Casino Party, Atlantic City — Thursday, May 4, through Sunday, May 7. Originally planned as a get-together for Casino QRJs, now all Casino regulars are welcome to meet at Resorts International Hotel and hook up with the Casino staff. More than 100 are expected, and festivities will include games and prizes. E-Mail QRJ Qwick.

Kittie1's Reno Party, Reno, Nevada — Friday, May 26, and Saturday, May 27 — Informal gathering, including an outing to Circus Circus and brunch on Saturday. Reserve a spot soon by E-Mailing Kittie1, Acy Ducy, or SherryLynn.

The Allentown Bash — Saturday, May 27 and Sunday, May 28. Louise Moore Park, Intersection of Routes 22 and 33, Allentown, PA — tennis, volleyball, softball and more! Park is open 7:30 a.m. to dusk; beer and wine permitted. E-Mail DebbieBear or Capt Fez for details.

Tammiey's Tavern Party, Warren, Ohio — Saturday, June 10 and Sunday, June 11. Packard Park in Warren will be the site of the fourth QParty held by Tammiey and her gang. 60 people are expected from as far away as Louisiana and California. Prepare for heavy-duty outdoor fun! E-Mail Tammiey.

Find out what QParties are planned for your part of the country in the QParties area, located in Just For Fun's QSociety in the Society Message Boards section. You'll find postings on the board with details of when, where and what's going to happen, and who to send E-Mail to to let them know you're coming!

Redesigned Fiction & Fantasy Club Boasts New Topics, More Excitement

The Fiction & Fantasy Club, your gateway to the many realms of Science Fiction, Fantasy, Horror, Mystery and Comics, has been redesigned to give you more information on your favorite fantasy topics!

Whether your interests in these areas run to books, movies, magazines or TV shows, there are a variety of message boards and conference centers grouped by interests where you can attend meetings and catch up on the latest news from other fiction and fantasy fans.

For instance, there's the Science Fiction Topic Boards, where you can exchange views about some of the most popular SF stories of all time — Doctor Who, Star Trek, Star Wars, and The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy. The Fantasy area contains sections on favorite authors like Anne McCaffrey, Piers Anthony, and Tolkien. Are chillers more your style? In the Horror area, talk to others about three of the hottest authors in horror today — Stephen King, Dean Koontz and Clive Barker fans meet here to share favorite stories and trade gossip.

And if you're into Superman, The Uncanny X-Men, or Thor, the popular Comic Book Corner provides you with reviews of the latest issues by both the club hosts and the groups' members!

The newest addition to the Fiction & Fantasy Club is Mystery, Action, and Strange Occurences, which incorporates the likes of Sherlock Holmes and James Bond stories with discussion about real-life unexplained phenomenon, like mysterious disappearances and U.F.O.s.

There are conference rooms in most interest group areas, and software libraries where you can download pictures and information about your fictional favorites. Each group also lists a calendar of events, where you can find dates and times of group meetings and pop in to find out what's happening!

No matter what area of fiction or fantasy interests you, you're welcome to attend club meetings to find out more, and you can join the Fiction & Fantasy Club by entering its Welcome and Sign Up area. If you haven't done it already, it's time for you to investigate one of Just For Fun's most popular clubs!

Be Part of the Continuing Stormy Saga — Q-Link's Online Serial!

The lives and loves of Q-Linkers — like you? — are explored each week in QSociety's Q-Link serial, "Links In the Chain." It's the fictitious ongoing tale of the tangled relationships of Q-Link members, and if you'd like to be part of the action, you can be written into the story!

Meet the Writer

"Links In the Chain" made its debut in March and is written by professional writer "TracyDReed", who became fascinated with the potential of doing an online novel after spending many hours on Q-Link. Tracy created the serial to be the first fiction on Q that makes real members part of a continuing story.

You can meet Tracy and ask all about what's coming up in "Links in the Chain" at 9:30 p.m. on Friday, May 5 in the special MEETTRACYDREED room of People Connection.

Meet the Links

Some of the plot of "Links in the Chain" takes place offline and follows the lives of several fictional characters, like Steve, a frustrated writer. Other characters include Jeff and Anita, two people who live a continent apart but are bound together on Q by their unbridled passion — and constant lies. Susan lives in a big house and drives an expensive car, but spends her time dreaming of the kind of life she'd like to lead while she searches for satisfaction on Q-Link.

Join the Chain

These fictional members sign on to Q-Link and become involved in the online hijinks of Q-Linkers who they meet via modem.

It's easy to get involved! Go to the Q-Link Serial area online, located on the main menu of Just For Fun's QSociety, and post a message on the Write Me In message board. You can even tell Tracy how you'd like to be added to the story, with whatever personality traits or interests you want included!

This month's highlights include:

Chapter 13: The Scattered Shards (May 7-13). Susan and Lawrence discuss her need to go to London with Howard on a project.

Chapter 14: The Silent Poet Sings (May 14-20). Jeff writes a love poem for Anita. But does he have the courage to send it to her?

Chapter 15: Grinding It Out (May 21-27). Steve and Joe work desperately to make the deadline for their project.

Haven't you waited long enough to feel the heat of the Q-Link Serial? Check it out tonight — you might just run into someone you know!

Join the Stars & Stripes Club for Memorial Day Remembrances

For many people, the long Memorial Day weekend signals the unofficial start of summer, but others remember Memorial Day as a legal holiday set to honor those who gave their lives in U.S. war efforts.

Stars & Stripes, Q-Link's club for war veterans and their dependents, will host a Memorial Day Observance on Monday, May 29 at 10 p.m. in People Connection's Auditorium.

Club Host Jerry B10 (Jerry Bailin), of the VA Regional Office in Baltimore, Maryland, will be onstage to pay tribute to the men and women of the armed forces who gave their lives in the fight for preservation of American ideals. He'll also discuss issues of importance facing veterans today, such as benefits and services available to them, and answer your questions about military and veteran affairs.

Learning Center

Sharpen Your Wits and Win In Tutoring Center Contests

Test your knowledge in a variety of subjects, compete with others — and win Q-Pons to buy Plus Hours — by entering the challenging contests in the Learning Center's Tutoring Center.

The contests, held in the various Tutoring Center departments, are designed to supplement the online tutoring sessions and classes, but you don't need to be a member of a class to test your skills.

Writing For Plus Hours

May marks the start of a new creative writing contest in the Tutoring Center's English Department. QTutor lk posts a topic, and people can upload their original poem or story to the Writing Contest message board. Check the message board for the latest entries, then vote for your favorites! First-place winner will qualify for four free Plus hours; second-place wins three hours, and third place receives two Plus hours.

If creative writing isn't up your alley, there's a daily literature question posted on the Literature Contest message board by QTutor mh. Be the first to answer five questions correctly, and you'll receive 5,000 Q-Pons, good for one hour of Plus time!

Math Lovers' Workout

Each week, a different math question goes up on the Math Jeopardy message board. Tackle these toughies by E-Mailing your answer within the week to QTutor Ann. Each question is worth 1,000 points, and the student who accumulates the most points by the end of the month wins enough Q-Pons for three Plus hours.

Computer Science Challenge

Daily Computer Science questions are posted on the Computer Science message board. The first person with a correct response earns a "chip." Earn four chips and you'll get a free Plus hour!

Science for Smarties.

"Science Challenge" is a four-week contest that really gives your wits a workout! Each week, the science tutors present a Junior and Senior Challenge for you to meet. E-Mail your entries within seven days to the tutor who presents each challenge; points will be awarded, and the entrants with the most points at the end of the contest win Plus time.

Show off your brain power — join the contest fun now in the Tutoring Center! Check in the subject department's contest areas for details!

Educational Spotlight: Meet QTutor jaa May 10 at 9 p.m.

The Learning Center's QTutor jaa is a registered nurse, a medical consultant to attorneys specializing in medical malpractice — and a committed member of the Learning Center's QTutor staff.

She's Jan Alexander of City Island, New York, and she coordinates the science and health department for the Learning Center and serves as Academic Counselor for the Q-Link Community College. QTutor jaa will be online to discuss academic counseling and answer your questions on Wednesday, May 10 at 9 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium.

The Q-Link members Jan counsels online about educational choices run the gamut from junior high school students looking for direction to adults considering a career change. She's available in the QCC Counseling Classroom every Wednesday at 10 p.m. for an hour, though she says a lot of the advice she dispenses is on an ad hoc, impromptu basis.

"I enjoy the people so much," she says, "It's nice to see a smile come up on the screen at the end of a session when they feel better!"

There's an awful lot of knowledge to be gained in the Learning Center —the one-on-one tutoring available is an incredible value. There are teaching professionals and very knowledgeable people providing as much time and help as is needed to help students out. Some people don't realize that there are PhDs giving their time online, tutoring — certainly not to get rich, but because they like to help, to teach. It's a very gratifying experience."

Learn more about this dedicated Learning Center professional — bring your questions for QTutor jaa to the education forum on May 10. If you're interested in online education, you'll want to attend!

You've Got a Right to Fight — on Express Yourself Debate Boards!

Gun control. Ayatollah Khomeini. The Bush presidency. Acid rain. These are the kinds of hot topics that dominate the national news, and everyone's got an opinion. Why don't you express your viewpoint (and blow off some steam in the process) by joining the battles that rage on News and Information's Express Yourself message boards?

The Hot Topic message board is devoted to a different top news item each week. A new topic goes up on the Hot Topic board every Thursday. News and Information Producer Barbara Keddy (screen name: Byline), a radio, TV, and print journalist for 14 years, closely monitors the national news agenda and determines the most newsworthy story of the week.

You can get some background on the issue at hand in the Here's the Hot Topic area, which poses provocative questions to get you going. Then it's time to hit the Hot Topic board, where you can jump into the fray. "The Express Yourself debate boards are really dynamic — they give people a chance to argue, share opinions and take stands. Often the debates are quite lively," says Barbara.

In addition to the Hot Topic board, you can attack other issues on Express Yourself's General Debate Board, or explore religious complexities on the Theological Debate Board. Messages that include vulgar language or discuss illegal activities are, of course, prohibited.

Don't let the issues of the day get your goat and drive up your blood pressure — Express Yourself! News and Information gives you the right to be heard!

Clear the Air (And Your Conscience) by Confessing Anonymously

"Michelle, I just wanted to tell you that I'm sorry .... I didn't mean to hurt you....."

Have you ever done something you feel truly bad about? Do you want to tell someone how you feel, but find it hard to say you're sorry?

Now you can bare your soul and ease your mind in the Online Confessions area of Just For Fun's QSociety. There's no Plus time charge to do it, and it's totally anonymous. Even your screen name is deleted when you make your apology.

Of course, this isn't meant to take the place of therapy or counseling, but confessing in Online Confessions will give you a chance to get something off your chest. All of the apologies will be compiled, minus their screen names, into the Secrets of the Confessions area, where you can see your confession, and read the confessions of others.

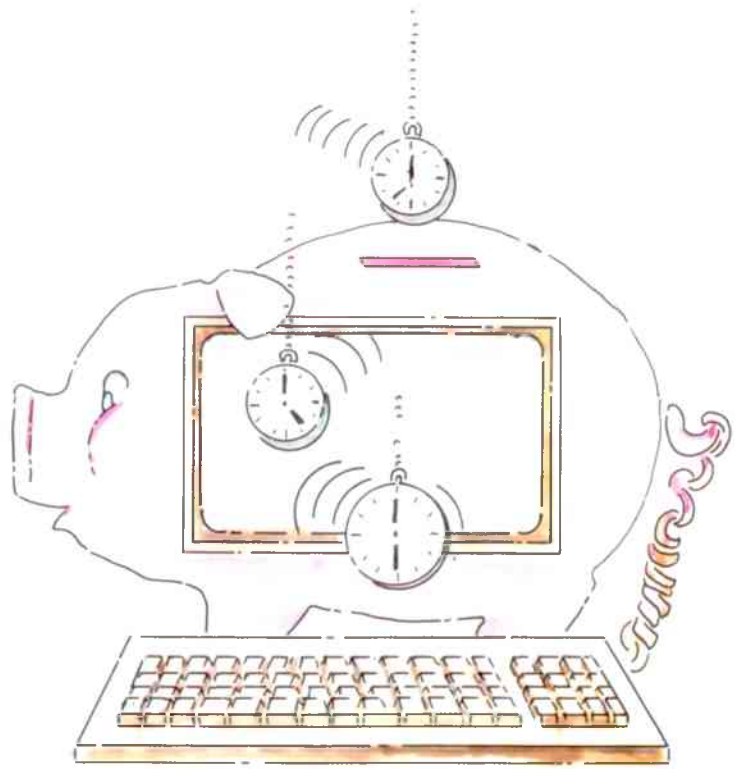
BUYING IT RIGHT — A Q-Link Producer Tells You How to Get the Most From The CIN Support Groups

by Paul Gernhardt
Senior Producer, Commodore Information Network



Consumer advocates, and their books, always tell you to make "informed" buying decisions. They invariably tell you to learn about the product you are interested in buying, research the brands and models available, talk with people who own the various brands and models of the product, and to shop around to find the best value.

Quite often though, we don't have access to the information and people who can really help us make that informed decision. We make mistakes, sometimes quite costly mistakes. Let me tell you about some mistakes I didn't make, thanks to Q-Link".

A Slow Start to the Quest

The object of my desires was an electronic keyboard. Those little piano-like keyboards that come packaged with the entire Philharmonic orchestra built in.

For years I had flirted with the idea of picking up the ones I saw in stores, and I tried to test them out without anyone hearing my "performance". Finally I broke down and started looking for one to fill an empty spot in my "play room". My requirements were simple. A full size keyboard, medium size price, and one I could hook up to my computer.

My first step was a trip to the local library to learn about keyboards. Unfortunately, technology moves faster than publishers — the books were out-of-date and of little help. All the magazines I found seemed concentrated on high-end (read expensive) keyboards geared to professionals. The music store yielded little more than a sales pitch. I didn't know any more than I did before.

You Can't Lose by Schmoozing

Finally I did what I should have done in the first place — I got on Q-Link, stopped in the Commodore Information Network's Music Room Support Group, and posted a message asking for help. In the days that followed I received all kinds of responses — E-Mail, referrals to online text, and meetings with people in People Connection. People from around the country taught me about synthesizers (that's what the big boys call electronic keyboards). They told me about how they work, the various kinds and brands available, and discussed the advantages and disadvantages of different types.

Advice from the Experts

Those same people talked about the keyboards they owned and what they liked and didn't like about them. In a few short days I had more hard-core information on what people really thought of various brands and models of keyboards than I could have possibly learned from magazines and books. By the time I was finished it was obvious which keyboard would meet my needs and not what the salesperson's idea of what he thought I needed.

Shop 'Till You Drop

Armed with a much better understanding of keyboards and the model number of the one I wanted, I headed off to the local music stores. The salespeople were very happy to show me what they had, recommending some that I'd heard of from recommendations by other Q-Linkers but wouldn't quite meet my needs or budget. At my request, they finally admitted they could order me the one I wanted and then quoted the "list price" — several hundred dollars above what I was told to expect. I turned them down and headed back to Q-link.

Q-Linkers Come Through — Again and Again!

After asking some of my new friends what I should do I received, via a posting on a message board, recommendations for two mail-order houses I should check. With two phone calls I found one of them had the keyboard in stock and could send it immediately. The best part was that it was half the price the store quoted me — I saved over $600!

I couldn't be happier with the keyboard I bought. It has everything I wanted and I saved a bundle! For this I thank the people on Q-Link. So my story ends right? Well not quite. I still needed more help, a little hand-holding if you will...

My new friends on Q-Link helped me select the right Musical Instrument Digital Interface (MIDI) adapter and cables so I could hook the keyboard up to my computer. They also helped me find the commercial software to help record and play music with the computer.

Finally, they helped me find the best public domain software in the online libraries, which did some tricks I hadn't even thought could be done. Later on I downloaded disks full of song files to play. How nice to have friends from all over help you find what you need, and then show you how to get more from what you bought.

Get the Facts Now — Or Pay Later

Although I'd been a Quantum employee for some time, this series of events helped point out how anyone can benefit from meeting people and getting help online. Nowhere else do you have this kind of chance to get information and suggestions from people right in the comfort of your own living room. Be it a keyboard, new computer or even a car, be sure to make an informed purchase — and let your fellow Q-Linkers help you do it!

P.S. After several people at work saw the great keyboard I had purchased, two of them ordered the same keyboard from the same place. Sure made me look smart. :D

Prices Slashed for QMart Bargain Days!

Get Your Q-Link Merchandise While Supplies Last

We want Q-Link members to have one more chance to order from our wide array of Q-Link goods while we've still got merchandise in stock. Some of this QMerchandise won't be available again, so now's your chance to get that Q-Link bag or mug you've always wanted — and at savings of up to 50%!

QMart Auction May 28

How can we offer such low prices? VOLUME! VOLUME! VOLUME! That's our secret — by making our prices so attractive, we can move more merchandise and slash prices! Check out the deals now in the QMart area on The Mall's main menu (Prices do not include shipping and handling).

Or join us for the QMart Auction on Sunday, May 28 at 8 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium. We'll be offering members the bargains pictured here along with some special "grab bags" of merchandise bundled together and reduced even more! Don't miss your chance to own a Q-Link memento — quantities are limited and some items might soon be gone for good!

Get News from the Pros of Computer Gaming World

Computer Gaming World magazine, one of the must-read publications for fans of game software and game machines, now offers Q-Linkers exclusive information about commercial gaming in the Commodore Software Showcase!

Visit the new Computer Gaming World section, located in the Showcase's Software Buyer's Guide, for the latest game software news about all the Commodore game publishers, and about home entertainment systems like Nintendo.

In Taking a Peek, you can preview software that hasn't hit the market yet. Trade facts and rumors on what's happening in the software industry on the Inside the Industry message board, where you'll hook up with other Q-Link members and Computer Gaming World staffers who are really in the know!

You'll also find an area devoted to game machines, a Strategically Speaking message board for hints and tips to help your playing, and ratings and reviews from the magazine. There's an article archive with past articles from CGW, and if you'd like to subscribe to Computer Gaming World magazine, you can order it online!

If you love computer games and game machines, drop into the Showcase's Computer Gaming World area today!

Make Beautiful Music at the New Orleans SIDFest!

The next official SIDFest, the twice-annual gathering of Commodore Music enthusiasts, is scheduled for the weekend of June 23-25 in that party town New Orleans. Find out what's in store for SIDFesters and make plans to attend in the special SIDFest area of CIN's Music Room Support Group!

In the South's Jazz Capital, you can join SID arrangers and composers, along with general music enthusiasts, to discuss the latest developments in the use of the SID (Sound Interface Device), which allows you to make music using the SID chip in your Commodore 64 or 128. There will be demonstrations, SID jamming, and lots of fun for everyone!

Before you make plans to go, you'll need to check out the SIDFest information area of CIN's Music Room Support Group. Message boards there will help you network with other SIDFesters planning to attend, and the area includes a special SIDFest library, general SIDFest news, and directions to the "official" SIDFest hotel.

Sound like fun? Count yourself in on the SIDFest area's RSVP board. If you like to use your Commodore to make your own kind of music, you've got to get in on the action!

VIQ of the Month: GlenD5 (Glen DeWeese)

Our May VIQ of the month is Glen DeWeese, a postal worker from Downey, CA. He's a former professional musician who now gets into music from Q-Link's Music Room Support Group!

Glen, who has been a member of the Q-Link community since last July, first learned about Q-Link from an advertisement in Compute's! Gazette.

He earned his VIQ status in his early days on Q-Link in RabbitJack's Casino, but now he prefers to download from the software libraries to build his home library of Q-Link music. He also enjoys downloading QGraphics, and has won Q-Pons and Plus hours by entering the Graphics Support Group's frequent contests.

The Q-Pons from those contests helped Glen achieve his VIQ status, and he says his first stop when he signs on is often the VIQ Club, Q-Link's private area for our frequent users (Q-Link members need to acquire 50,000 Q-Pons to join). Look for Glen online in the VIQ Club, and if you see him, say congratulations — he's our VIQ of the Month!
